Mr. Brannan
Meet Mr. Burwell
Quizz Show

Editor The Star: During the period of 1911 and 1921 I made my home at Hope, and after leaving there and until January of this year I have maintained a very close contact through the state papers and periodicals with Hope and South Arkansas.

I have been here (Mattoon, Ill.) since January. Sunday I went to the post office and, much to my surprise and delight, spread out on the desk in front of the section where my post office box is, was the Hope Star dated Friday, September 17.

I read a portion of it rapidly, then looked in every direction and under the desk to be certain the owner was not looking, and sneaked this paper under my coat and carried it out to the car where Mrs. Brannan was, and she sat on it until we got home to be sure no one would claim. We have read it from one end to the other.

Now we would like to know the name and address of the subscriber in Mattoon, Ill. Black or white, under the Truman plan, we are ready to call on them.

Just pick out anybody around there, including Ed McCorkle, who was a charter member of the Rotary club with me, and give them my best regards. There are many others there whom we number among our close friends.

GEORGE BRANNAN

Sept. 20, 1948

Box 395

Mattoon, Ill.

I am advising Mr. Brannan that the Mattoon subscriber is Charles Burwell, Box 53, Mattoon, Ill.

Hope stores closed at noon today for a half-holiday—and this is a gentle reminder to both owners and staffs that the holiday ought to be used for the purpose for which it was intended: To support the Third District Stock Show at Fair park by attending it today.

This radio quizz show idea is infecting the small fry among newspaper readers also.

Yesterday a lad who looked to be 9 or 10 came in the office with a clipping of a Star "filler" item which announced that the planet Saturn has 10 moons.

"That," said the younger, "is wrong. And he handed in a penciled memorandum which stated that Saturn has only nine moons."

One time when I was arguing with my father and told him he was "wrong," he paused a moment, then said gravely, "Don't you know a word less harsh?" Don't silence me. It was a good line, too.

I'm calling it to the attention of the small fry who called at our office yesterday. For the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Encyclopedia reports that the planet Saturn has "at least 10 satellites."

No charge for the correction, sir.

By LEON HATCH H
Little Rock, Sept. 23—(AP)—States Rights Democrats today abandoned an effort to have the Arkansas State Democratic Convention presidential electors candidates pledged to the States Rights ticket.

The States Rights executive committee, threw the convention into an uproar of applause when he made the announcement about an hour and a half after the convention opened at noon.

Instead of the expected convention fight, the candidacies of Govs. J. Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright for president and vice president of the States Rights ticket will be placed on the Arkansas ballot by petition which will be filed tomorrow, Daggett said.

Two Injured in Wrecks Near Hope

Mrs. J. M. Duncan and grandson, Michael, aged 3, of Hot Springs, were injured about 9:30 a.m. today when the automobile in which they were riding struck a bridge about 5 miles west of Hope on Highway 67.

The youth's leg was broken and Mrs. Duncan suffered severe cuts about the scalp. The car was badly damaged.

Enroute to New Boston, Texas, Mrs. Duncan told state police that she tried to pass a truck loaded with cotton and was forced into the bridge. Police were unable to locate the truck.

In another accident last night about 3 miles west on Highway 67, a Blackburn Syrup Truck of Jefferson, Texas, driven by Tom Roden, hit and killed a young nurse whose body was in the car he was driving.

Deputy Prosecutor Tom Donegan said Tommy Edwin Black of Little Rock had admitted in a statement that he beat and choked to death Betty Jane McCall, 25, after they had quarreled over his approaches toward her.

Black, who was turned over to Pulaski county authorities shortly after he surrendered, was held on an open charge. Prosecutor Edwin Donegan said he would be charged with rape and murder.

Donegan quoted Black as relating this story:

He met Miss McCall, a neet blonde and acting director of nurses' education at the North Little Rock Veterans hospital, when she drove her car into a service station where he worked (65.00) last Saturday for repairs. While talking with her he obtained

Presidential Nominees Are Going All Out in Campaign to Gain Support of West

By JAC KBELL

En Route with Dewey to Phoenix Sept. 23—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared today that "incredible opportunities" for the future development of this country lie in the West.

Heading toward Phoenix and a discussion tonight of atomic energy problems, the GOP presidential nominee talked at Winslow during an early morning stop about Arizona's sunshine.

He said he wished some of it could be bottled so that he could take it home with him to New York.

The governor was greeted on his arrival by a crowd estimated by Police Chief A. T. Hartley at 1,500 persons. The Santa Fe Indian band played.

Dewey kept the crowd waiting at Winslow for several minutes while a delegation headed by Clarence Budington Kelland, Arizona national committeeman, boarded the train. Bruce Brockett, GOP candidate for governor was introduced before Dewey gave his brief talk.

Brockett, in introducing the nominee, termed him "one of the greatest administrators of our times."

Dewey said "these are serious times" and that "we need unity because the world situation is what it is."

He added that he proposes to bring to Washington an administration in which "quarrelling, back biting, and bickering" will be eliminated.

After Dewey finished talking five Indian governors of the Hopi villages near Winslow, climbed aboard the rear platform and shook hands with the presidential nominee.

Earlier Dewey had fired a new barbed criticism at the Truman administration's dealings with Russia.

As his special train rolled westward toward a fourth formal campaign stop at Phoenix tonight, the Republican presidential nominee appeared ready to try again variations of that theme. Yalta, Potsdam and other decisions gave the Soviets too big a chunk of the world.

He got what his aides regarded as good crowd reaction when he asserted at Santa Fe, N. M., that the GOP's major task "is to get an administration which doesn't play footloose with the Communists and the next day say: 'We don't like you.'"

Dewey also has been contending that the Republican Congress provided 50 per cent more funds for reclamation projects in the last two years than the Democratic Congress did in the preceding two.

That theme was expected to be a major one when Dewey discusses the problems of the southwest at Phoenix.

Dewey left the circuit of states which have senatorial contests today when he turned westward into Arizona. He scheduled brief train platform talks at Winslow, Flagstaff, Williams, Ash Fork and Prescott before Phoenix appearance.

He rides into California for a major talk at Los Angeles tomorrow night. California has no senate race. Neither does Oregon or Washington, next on his schedule.

Dewey gave a boost yesterday to Patrick Hurley, Republican former secretary of war, running for the senate in New Mexico against Clinton Anderson, former Democratic secretary of agriculture.

McMath in turn suggested the convention in a manner unstructured electors who could vote for either ticket.

The States Rights immediately withdrew their "compromise," having thumbed down on the McMath offer and announced a fight to gain control of the convention.

Governor Laney, who retires from office Jan. 1, announced that he would introduce a proposal to the two-day convention that Arkansas abolish the poll tax. He suggested a system of registration to adopt to take the place of the poll tax.

Laney said he realized that abolition of the poll tax is a plank in President Truman's platform if it is not adopted.

"We don't believe any contractor would make a bid to take up those rails at any price," he said.

The proposal was refused by Sid McMath, Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

Rodeo Queen to Be Named Tonight

By ERNEST B. VACCARO H

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Sept. 23—(AP)—President Truman brought his war record into the political campaign today, telling a trainside crowd at Fresno that he had not claimed exemption because of his farm or that "I was 33."

The chief executive did not follow up this assertion in his second speech and his third appearance in California's San Joaquin valley this morning.

Mr. Truman commanded Battery D of the 129th field artillery, 35th division, in World War.

Joanne Moore, age 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Moore of Gardena, sponsored by Chamber of Commerce.

consent to call her sometime to go dancing.

Yesterday the couple made a date to go dancing and last night they drove in Miss McCall's automobile to a night club (Hill Top) near Little Rock on the Pine Bluff highway.

They left the night club when it closed at 2 a. m. today and with Black behind the wheel, drove to a deserted section on the northeast outskirts of Little Rock, where they parked.

After a curfew Black overcame Miss McCall's resistance and raped her. The girl was stunned and sumed and she bit Black's hand.

This, Downie said, Black continued, provoked the young mechanician into beating and choking Miss McCall. When she ceased struggling, he returned to downtown Little Rock, discovering on the way something was wrong with her as she lay limp in the front seat of the car.

Black drove to the home of a friend, who advised him to surrender to police.

Miss McCall, a native of Texarkana, Tex., had been a member of the North Little Rock Veterans staff since August, 1947. She was graduated from nurses' training at St. Edwards hospital, Fort Smith, and served as army nurse at Camp Chaffee, near Fort Smith during World War Two.

Miss McCall's mother, Mrs. Lucy McCall of Route 1, Texarkana, and a brother, William, stationed with the air force at Barksdale Field, La., were en route to Little Rock today to take charge of the body.

Police Officer

Texarkana, Sept. 23—(P)—An officer who criticized fellow members of the Texarkana, Ark., police force, now being investigated by a grand jury, has been suspended.

Police Chief H. G. Holmes ordered Earl Henderson suspended for 30 days for violation of civil service rules and requested the office permanent dismissal.

Holmes' charges against Henderson involve the latter's criticism of the department in a public address Sunday night. A probe of the department by the Miller county grand jury was started the next day.

more than $225,000.

The fire, intensified by exploding acetylene tanks, destroyed the farmers elevator and oats and rice in the elevator's granary and drier and an adjoining mill of the J. I. Porter Lumber Co.

Damage to the elevator was estimated last night at $125,000, but was revised upward to $225,000 today by one of the owners, D. P. Oskam.

The loss of the lumber company was estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000 by Manager Porter John.

The blaze was discovered about 1:30 p. m. yesterday and was not brought under control until 5 p. m. because the fire is still undetermined.

Iles. So the movie people did him in.

Later there were protests from Negroes against "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Their complaint against this ancient melodrama was, as we recall, that it emphasized and inflamed discrimination and inequality.

Now the New York Board of Rabotts has protested to movie bossman Eric Johnston against the British film, "Oliver Twist." They call it a "vehicle of blatant anti-Semitism," and they object to Dickens' characterization of "a Jew named Fagin" who is portrayed both in the novel and the film as a hawly underworld character corrupting youth.

Jews, Negroes, Chinese and others cannot be blamed for an acute sensitivity to the discriminating embarrassment and injustice that many of them suffer. But sensitivity can be carried to a point where it may defeat its own purpose.

In this case it suggests that an author cannot create an imple-ant fictional character belonging to some racial or religious minority without defaming or degrading all the members of that minority.

Thus the protesting members of the minorities fall prey to a habit of thinking which they are rightfully fighting against. That is the habit of assigning mass characteristics to a whole class of people simply on the basis of their race, religion or nationality.

We doubt strongly that the creators of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the author of "Oliver Twist" are racists.

The results are somewhat less than true to life. The composite movie hero is quite a cosmopolitan character. But virtually all the heroine's bad men are white and the heroine's unimpeachable English parents with no apparent religious affiliations and no visible financial income or status.

When on rare occasions the movie-makers vary this somewhat monotonous pattern, it might seem over to call attention to the fact. For these rare occasions are usually cases like "Oliver Twist" where it would be a great impertinence to alter a famous and well-loved story.

world." Then the president took this position:

"It has been the policy of the United States under this administration to keep foreign policy out of politics, that is, policy within the United States. It is necessary for us as a nation to go to the water's edge with a solid front. We must go there as the United States of America." He said he would continue to see that that policy is pursued.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D. La., said it is "only fair and proper that those of us who have been so critical of President Truman on these matters should know what position he (Dewey) would take."

The men he said controlled the House are Speaker Martin, and Chairman W. L. Elliott, of Michigan; T. B. MacNeasey, of Okla.;
and A. L. Burdette, of Arkansas.

Heber said he was told that the House Un-American Activities Committee was putting policies ahead of national security in their current espionage investigation.

In particular, the most bitter criticism ever directed at the committee by one of its members, Heber said it is a tragedy that politics has played such a large part in the committee's activities. Democrats and Republicans together have contributed. The Republicans want to keep in the headlines. They

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

A diverticulum is a pouch or pocket leading off from a large cavity or tube. In the passageway leading from the mouth to the anus (outlet of the rectum) such pouches are fairly common. Probably there is some weakness in the wall present at birth in the majority of cases.

The most common location for diverticula is in the colon or lower part of the bowel. After the age of 40, it has been estimated that diverticula are present in perhaps one person out of 20. Usually these pouches do not produce symptoms and the condition is called diverticulosis. Occasionally they can become inflamed and then the condition is called diverticulitis.

In diverticulitis the symptoms of inflammation vary a good deal. There may be a simple slight attack of acute abdominal pain or several episodes of minor difficulty.

Occasionally the inflammation may be so severe as to cause a perforation or hole in the bowel with infection spreading to the abdominal cavity and producing peritonitis or abscess formation.

The area involved may be sensitive to pressure, though of course this can occur from a great many other conditions. Because the symptoms are so similar to many other conditions of the intestines and abdominal contents, and are frequently complicated by other disorders, the diagnosis is often difficult. Examination of the lower part of the bowel by the use of an instrument called a proctoscope is necessary. X-ray studies are also used.

When severe diverticulitis bursts through the wall of the bowel or its associated intestinal action, an operation may have to be considered. In most cases, however, fairly simple medical treatment is sufficient.

Most diverticula do not produce symptoms or damage. Of those which do, the majority can be managed by fairly simple medical management.

QUESTION: What can be done for an ulcer of the stomach that has returned?

ANSWER: This depends on the nature of the ulcer and where it is located. If adequate trial with initially completed for the fall quarter at The College of the Ozarks, three students from Hempstead county who have enrolled, it was announced today by Dr. Wiley Lin Hurie, president of the college.

Hempstead students are: John E. Honca, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Honca, Hope; James W. Hazzard, son of B. M. Hazzard, Hope; and James A. Powden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bowden.

Mr. Honca and Mr. Hazzard are both juniors majoring in the College's School of Pharmacy. Arkansas' only pharmacy institute, Mr. Bowden, a sophomore, is also attending the School of Pharmacy. The three Hempstead students attended Henderson State Teachers College prior to entering The College of the Ozarks. Mr. Honca also studied at Louisiana State University.

This quarter's enrollment is the largest in the 57-year history of The College of the Ozarks. Applications for admission to the winter quarter which opens November 29 are now being accepted.

Veteran Pilot Lands Plane on Bridge

Little Rock, Sept. 22 (UPI) — A veteran crop-duster pilot landed a light plane on the 2,200-foot Arkansas river bridge in downtown Little Rock early today.

Crowds of curious were waiting at both ends of the single span structure as Pilot J. O. Dockery brought his Cessna monoplane in for the landing at 6:05 a. m.

Despite the advance police and highway patrol posted as guards to halt traffic, Dockery's landing caught at least two pedestrians by surprise in the middle of the bridge.

There was plenty of room for both them and the plane, however. Dockery said he had no trouble keeping to the center of the 40-foot wide bridge.

Dockery said he wasn't much concerned over making the landing. "I've been dusting crops for 22 years," he explained, "and this wasn't hard at all."

The plane was flown at dawn because of the absence of winds

Russia Trying to Pull the Old Shell Game in Asking Withdrawal of U. S. Troops

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst That's an interesting though not particularly admiring exhibition of the old shell-game given by Russia in announcing that she will withdraw her troops from Northern Korea by the new year, and calling on Uncle Sam to pull out of the South.

On the face of it this is a big-hearted gesture of amity and is calculated thus to impress the unwary. However, we may be quite sure that if American troops are withdrawn from Southern Korea, the Bolsheviks would move to take over quicker than you could lose a silver dollar by trying to guess which shell the elusive pea is under.

This isn't to say that the United States might not decide to withdraw. That's a dish which still is on the menu. There are two schools of thought on this subject of withdrawal. One holds that it would be a strategic error to pull out. The other maintains that it's a mistake to stay since there is such a thing as spreading your strength too thin, and furthermore America has military forces in neighboring Japan.

Whether Russia will indeed withdraw if the United States does not, remains to be seen. The Muscovites might pull back across the frontier into Manchuria in any event. And why not? Northern Korea has been thoroughly communized. A Soviet government has been established, and it's an open secret that the country is overrun with the Bolshevik armed secret police which spearheaded the setting up of any Soviet regime. We've seen the ruthless efficacy of such police in countries like Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Korea is small, but strategically she is mighty atom. For centuries the Korean peninsula, which projects down between the sea of Japan and the Yellow sea of Japan and her continental ambitions. No wonder Japan complained that Korea was "a dagger pointing at her heart." Controled by communism, Korea would be a dagger pointing at the heart of peace. Certainly it enters into the picture of the great red offensive to overrun the Orient.

Washington's response to the Russian announcement about withdrawal is that American troops of occupation will remain in Korea until the United Nations general assembly considers the Korean situation at Paris. The State Department said the United States has no intention of withdrawing troops forthwith.

Reds Seek to Mediate China War

Washington, Sept. 22. — (UPI) — Diplomatic reports indicated today that Russia is trying to get a bid to mediate China's civil war.

Diplomatic sources in China, according to these reports, have overheard that Soviet officials are dropping careful hints that Moscow would welcome a mediator's role.

The "feelers" it was said, are elucidated to determine whether Generalissimo Chiang KaiShek's Nationalist government would consider a formal offer of Russia's "good offices."

There was said to be some indication that the Chinese have not been receptive.

Nevertheless, the reports prompted official speculation over reasons behind the apparent Soviet interest in working out a truce between the warring Chinese nationalist and Communist forces.

Those familiar with the Chinese political and military situation hazarded a guess that Russia is motivated by these factors:

1. A truce in the long civil war would give "legitimacy" to the cause of the Chinese Communists. They presumably would be included in a new Chinese government if the Soviet plan for mediation went through.

2. Once inside the government, the Communists would have a better opportunity to win control of China and establish a regime which would cooperate with Russia rather than the Western powers.

3. If the offer of mediation is made and rejected by Chiang, Russia could claim that the nationalists are not interested in peace. Then it might find it practicable to give more support to the Communist forces.

4. Such an appeal undoubtedly would gain approval of many Chinese who are tired of the civil war.

On the negative side, the informal feelings are not regarded as a sign that Russia believes the Communist armies are waging a losing battle in view of the new U. S. military aid assured Chiang. Congress recently authorized $125,000,000 for the nationalist forces and $50,000,000 already has been allocated.

Authorities familiar with the Soviet moves doubt they will meet any success. Chinese officials contacted by the Soviet diplomats were understood to have reacted unfavorably toward the idea of Russia mediation.

Relations between China and the Soviet union have been strained for several years and Chinese suspicion alone may doom the Russian efforts.

Gazette Editor Accepts New Position

Little Rock, Sept. 22 (UPI) — The former managing editor of the Arkansas Gazette here, Clyde L. Dew, has accepted a position as news editor of the Razorback Radio network.

Publisher John F. Wells of the network said that Dew will assume his duties today. He will handle all news for Stations KXLR at North Little Rock, KWEM at West Memphis and KWAK at Stuttgart.

Dew headed the Gazette staff for 17 years, taking over as managing editor in 1931. His resignation was received reluctantly.

And yesterday the Gazette announced that Harry Ashmore has been appointed executive editor in the only other staff change caused by Dew's absence. Ashmore was formerly editor of the Gazette's editorial page.

GOP in Bid for Support of South

Washington, Sept. 22. — (UPI) — The Republican party, in its first serious bid for Southern support in 20 years, is out to "sell" Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to the South as a staunch advocate of states rights.

Hoping to capitalize on the split among Southern Democrats over President Truman's civil rights program, the GOP is campaigning energetically from the speaker's platform and in the newspapers. It has set up a separate bureau to handle Southern affairs, under the direction of Bryan Collier, former Columbus, Ga., editor.

Mrs. Charles W. Wells, Jr., associate GOP campaign manager, said several women's Republican clubs are being set up throughout the South.

"Many voters," she said, "are flocking to the support of the Dewey-Warren ticket and the establishment of a real two-party system in the South."

Collier currently is writing a series of articles for Southern papers in which he characterizes Dewey as a man who believes in keeping government at home."

"One of his basic creeds," Collier said of Dewey, "is that over-centralized government — particularly under the poorly disguised regimentation of New Dealism—is too far removed from the people."

Dewey is appealing to Southerners to get over their "blind loyalty" to the Democratic party and their traditional prejudices against the word "Republican."

Voting for the States' Rights Democrats as a protest against the Truman-Barkley ticket can only cause more confusion and chaos, he insists.

He argues for a progressive two-party system in the South, which he says can be built up only by a huge South vote for Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren, his running mate.

Dewey in the White House, plus a Roosevelt Congress on the bill, means a healthy climate for American business, highlighted by productive economies which produce the lowest tax rates," Collier is telling Southerners.

Baby Undergoes Critical Operation

Chicago, Sept. 22. — Pamela Lamphere, the baby with her bladder outside her body, today underwent her first of three operations to correct the rare condition. An hour later physicians reported everything "going well."

The condition of Pamela, 22 months old, had caused a rift between her parents, Fred, 23, and Irene, 21. Physicians said the abnormality would be fatal unless she was operated upon.

The father wanted the operation but the mother said she preferred to have the child for the few years she was certain to live, instead of risking surgery.

The Lampheres became reconciled after Mrs. Lamphere learned of other children who underwent similar successful operations.

What basis, if any, can there be for the view held by some that there is bound to be war between Russia and America eventually and that therefore Uncle Sam would be wise to strike now and not give the Muscovites a chance to build up strength?

From my standpoint there is no foundation whatever. I don't believe that a shooting war between the two powers is inevitable.

Obviously there always is danger of war while the great powers are playing at skittles amidst high explosives. Even a mole can see there might be an explosion, but if it should come it might not be pre-arranged.

That being so, what possible justification would America have to go on a third world war? What possible excuse could be given the American public for sending our sons overseas to wage a conflict which might have been avoided?

As a matter of fact, there is no indication that there is any responsible American executive, governmental or military, who has the slightest thought of precipitating a conflict. On the contrary my information is that the policy is to hold Communist aggression where it now is while the democracies are rehabilitated and so gain strength which will put them out of danger.

True, the policy of the Western powers also is to be firm and not allow themselves to be pushed around. They have no intention, for example, of allowing the Russians to bully them out of Berlin—or out of any other place. Britain and America are going to continue to let the Russian-blockaded German capital by air—one of the most amazing feats of transport ever achieved.

But if there is any overt act committed with the idea of precipitating war, it's going to be perpetrated by the other fellow and not by the democracies.

Actually time is running in favor of the Western Allies. The Bolshevik offensive is being held along the Stettin-Adriatic line which it reached long ago through central Europe. Meantime rehabilitation of the western part of the continent is moving apace, thanks largely to the Marshall plan. This economic betterment means greater military security, and is giving a real lift to the morale of these nations which were hit so hard by the late war.

Thus things are looking much better for the democracies in Europe than they were even a few months ago. Their job is to hold along the present line and let the Reds beat their brains out against the stone wall thus created.

Of course Europe doesn't by any means give us the whole picture of the Russian drive to communize the world. The Reds are intensifying their big new offensive in the Orient, especially in Burma and Indonesia, and that presents a grave threat. However, the greatest immediate danger to the western democracies lies in the European situation.

It is obvious that Russia intends to take calculated risks in her efforts to overrun western Europe. She has been daring greatly and may be expected to continue to do so. However, the consensus of close observers is that Moscow doesn't want war now and has no intention of going far enough to precipitate it.

There is one qualification which must be made to the above. Russia's strategy is to spread communism by strong-arm methods short of involving the Soviet Union in a major war. Should the Communists be successful in this program—should they, for example, overrun the rest of the European continent and secure control of south-east Asia—then there is small doubt that there would be war between Russia and America.

However, I don't think we have to cross that bridge at this juncture.

Rams Surprise in Win Over Detroit Team

Los Angeles, Sept. 23—(UP)—There was a rumbling in the depths of the National Football League today following the Los Angeles Rams' 44-7 win over the Detroit Lions, which touched off a busy week for both NFL and All-American pro gridders.

The Rams—consigned by many experts to a spot way down in the NFL western division—rebounded from some depressing exhibition games to swarm all over Bo McMillin's Lions.

The Rams cashed in on three bad breaks for the Lions—erstwhile Cinderella boys of the exhibition circuit—to rack up three touchdowns in the first half.

The game—marking the most lopsided score between the two rivals in a regular season contest—indicated that brighter days might be expected in the rest of this week's NFL. New York at Boston tonight, Philadelphia at defending champion Chicago Cards tomorrow night; and Pittsburgh at Washington, and Chicago Bears at Green Bay Sunday.

All-America Conference—Brooklyn at Baltimore, Chicago at Cleveland, and San Francisco at Buffalo, all on Sunday.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Copyright, 1947

By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Sept. 22—If I hadn't come down with galloping buckfever during my interview with Bubblehead Wallace at his press conference in Philadelphia, I would have been able to sound him up right there because Old Slupe just isn't bright.

When he said to me that day, "I never discuss anything with Westbrook Pegler," I was going to say, "Oh, but Mr. Wallace, that is not because, the last time I visited you, you discussed a very interesting plan to build an eight-lane concrete highway from New York to Paris—by way of Alaska and Siberia."

That would have sloughed them but it is a fact.

I would have touched him off and when Bubblehead gives tongue you have got him. You can steer him with questions. But I blew up and lost the floor. Doris Fleeson and other friends of his have said they knew all the time that he wrote the goofy letters and I agree with them absolutely that he did but, if you will excuse me, for a better reason.

For example, in the letter to "Dear Guru," dated March 12, 1938, where it says, "I have been thinking of you holding the casket of the sacred, most precious casket," I know what that refers to.

I refer to the painting of old Nick showing off the two-legged beard, wearing his little ding-dong Chinese cap and chow mein jacket and holding up a little box that was planted in the cornerstone of the lamassery at the dedication ceremony. It was full of conventional voodoo. Hair combings, policy slips, boss-fist powder and about 88 cents in coins.

Roerich's son, Vlastov, did a painting of the old boy which hung inside the lamassery and Bubblehead used to drool with reverent awe at the sight of it.

Then this letter continues: "And I have thought of the new country going forth to meet the seven stars under the sign of the three stars. And I have thought of the admirals. Await the stone." We await the stone, and we welcome you again to this glorious land of destiny, clouded though it may be with strange, fumbling fears."

Know what this is about? ask Anna.

Old Nick used to tell Henry bubble stories coated with mysticism and, as one of the old hands of the cultural circle said the other day, "Wallace was impossibly simple. He was childlike. He loved to use code names for things." England and Japan were tigers and monkeys. Roosevelt the Wavering One. The State Department was the old house. He was Gallahad. Such a do!

Roerich had written a thing called "The Legend of the stone" and Wallace had an emotional hook-down over that. He souped up Roerich's patter and used it to suggest great savvy about oriental religions. He a广播er jabbering football jargon could never even went out for wooden chairs.

He also impressed the members of the circle as a man headed by strange fears. He seemed frightened of everything—of being alone, of the devil. So Wallace sealed around, bypassing the State Department and asked Saito to turn off the heat as a favor to him, his real cause to worry over being found out. He seemed to think nothing of lifting official papers out of the files of the government and sending them to the lamassery. There was one from Cordell Hull which I held in my hand a few days ago. There was another letter signed by Hiroo Saito, the Japanese ambassador, on the embassy's stationery, dated Feb. 13, 1935, promising that the harbin newspaper Nichi-Nichi would lay off old Nick. Bubblehead had sent Roerich to Mongolia and Mongolia and this paper, a Japanese propaganda show was giving him the devil. So Wallace sealed around, bypassing the State Department and asked Saito to turn off the heat as a favor to him, his real cause to worry over being found out. He seemed to think nothing of lifting official papers out of the files of the government and sending them to the lamassery.

Would Take Farms Out of Politics

Enroute with Warren to Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22—(P)—Gov. Earl Warren put up to the farming Mid-West today a proposal to place the nation's farm problems on a non-political basis.

An overflow Republican gathering in St. Louis last night roared its approval when he said agriculture was a "political issue," and ridiculed what he termed President Truman's picturization of Republicans as "pitchfork conspirators."

Developing the non-partisan national unity theme he expounded in Salt Lake City to launch his campaign, the Republican vice presidential candidate asserted:

"The Democratic party has never had, does not have now, and they can't honestly claim a proprietorship over agriculture.

"Agriculture isn't a political issue. It's a vital element in our national life calling for consideration without partisanship. We can do it with both political parties working together."

The No. 2 Republican was given a roaring welcome to St. Louis. A storm of confetti and ticker tape showered down from St. Louis office buildings as the 50-car Warren motorcade traveled slowly from the station to hotel.

Police estimated between 50,000 and 75,000 saw him along the line of march through the business district. There were a few partisan boos heard above the applause.

A Republican crowd cheered him at Kiel Auditorium. It overflowed the main hall into two adjoining halls and across the street in Soldiers Memorial park. Auditorium Superintendent John Handley estimated the crowd at 6,000.

Strike of Radiomen Averted

By The Associated Press

A threat of a strike of 300 radiomen on Pan American World Airways was averted today when management and labor agreed to submit their dispute to an impartial arbitrator.

The dispute arose over the alleged layoff of 50 radiomen several months ago.

H. S. Taylor, secretary of the CIO radiotele office section of the CIO Transport Workers Union, said last night that a strike would be called today unless the layoffs were cancelled. The company said the agreed resubmission of the issue to an arbitrator removed the strike threat.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company, has offered wage increases ranging up to $16 a week for 25,000 telephone workers in 42 states and the District of Columbia. Plant craftsmen would get pay hikes up to $6, and operators and clerical employees boosts up to $4, the company said.

The offer is being studied by the CIO American Union of Telephone Workers. A union spokesman said it "appears to be highly unsatisfactory," but he added the union "is continuing to examine it."

The union's threatened strike last June was averted by the naming of a fact-finding board by President Truman.

In Ottawa, Ia., five departments of John Morrell and Company packing firm were closed and 550 workers were made idle after a breakdown in company-union negotiations. A federal mediator failed to reconcile differences between the firm and the CIO Packinghouse Workers' local.

Striking CIO longshoremen are holding army cargoes at Pacific Coast ports under contracts between the army and two stevedoring firms not connected with the Waterfront Employers' Association. The association has refused to negotiate with maritime unions who have not signed non-communist affidavits.

The strike started Sept. 2 after a breakdown in negotiations over hiring halls and a longshore wage increase demand from $1.67 to $1.82 an hour.

Cotton Picking in Arkansas Well Underway

Little Rock, Sept. 22 (P)—Cotton picking in Arkansas is well underway following a week of ideal harvest weather.

Cotton bolls opened rapidly in the hot, dry days, said the weekly State Weather and Crop Bulletin today.

Lincoln and Ashley counties have reported one-fourth of their cotton picked and Columbia county reported half of its crop picked. The harvest is not as far advanced in other producing areas.

Bales ginned thus far are graded mostly one bulletin reported.

Also in full swing is the rice harvest, about one-third of the crop having been harvested in some counties.
